The Treatment of Primary & Secondary  LYMPHEDEMA

 Comprehensive Rehabilitative Program

According to the most recent MED CAD (Medicare Evidence Development and Coverage Advisory Committee) panel hearing that was conducted in Baltimore, MD in November 2009, they determined the most effective form of treatment for secondary lymphedema is through a combination of comprehensive decongestive therapy (CDT) and pneumatic compression devices (home compression pumps).

Our professional staff of licensed physical therapists, licensed physical therapist assistants and certified comprehensive compression therapists is well-versed in treating the physical and psychosocial trauma that are most readily identified in patients with lymphatic disorders.
